Suggestions for Improvement:	I don't know if it's nerves or that is just takes you awhile to settle into a lesson, but you seem a bit "in your head" during your lessons. Work on being in the moment with the learners and in tune with what you want to teach and what they need from you. This will also help as you work to provide differentiated instruction and levels for learning. Take your lessons deeper for students who are ready, and reteaching key concepts for those who aren't. Reflective questioning and including more formative checks for understanding will help in this process.
Overall Rating:	Proficient
Do you believe this practicum student has the knowledge, skills, and attitude required to become an effective student teacher?	Yes
General Comments:	Your enjoyment in teaching shows as you engage with students in the classroom. Continuing to grow your experiences with students in learning settings will help you to relax into the moment more and provide more individualized instruction to them when needed. I think that your desire to be a good teacher will scaffold your own learning as you continue through this program. Nice work Ally.
